Los Banos City Council to Consider Appointment of a New City Manager

(Los Banos, CA) – At its September 15, 2021 city council meeting, the Los Banos City Council will be considering the appointment of Josh Pinheiro, as the next Los Banos City Manager.

According to Mayor Tom Faria, “Josh brings 15 years of experience in business and leadership to Los Banos, and we look forward to meeting our City’s challenges and moving our City forward. Our goal is to make Los Banos the best place to live, work, and play.”

Pinheiro says he is excited about becoming the next Los Banos City Manager and is looking forward to making the move back to his hometown. “Los Banos has some great opportunities for economic development and challenging issues to deal with. I am looking forward to working with the Council, staff, community and regional partners to collaboratively address these opportunities and challenges and continue making Los Banos a great place to live”, said Pinheiro.

Throughout his professional career, Pinheiro has developed a broad range of experience and been responsible for leading teams and projects from a variety of industries. Pinheiro has lead teams in the hospitality, manufacturing, and most recently technology sector. Pinheiro has been responsible for a number of innovative programs and projects ranging from business development, process optimization, and corporate partnerships.

Mayor Faria reports that Pinheiro’s first official day on the job will be October 4th.
